Dear Senior Executive or Principal of a Newly Registered Investment Adviser:¹

We are sending you this letter to introduce you to the National Exam Program (“NEP”), which is administered by the Office of Compliance Inspections and Examinations (“OCIE”) within the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“Commission”), and to provide you with information about upcoming examinations of certain newly registered investment advisers and the topical areas that may be examined.² The NEP staff will contact you separately if your firm is selected for an examination.

I. Information About the NEP

An investment adviser registered with the Commission has an obligation to comply with the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the “Advisers Act”) and the rules adopted by the Commission thereunder. OCIE examines registered advisers, including firms that advise private funds, to assess whether they are operating in a manner consistent with the federal securities laws. OCIE administers such examinations through the NEP, which is comprised of staff in the Commission’s 11 regional offices and the home office in Washington, D.C. The NEP’s mission is to protect investors and maintain market integrity through risk-focused examinations that promote compliance, prevent fraud, monitor risk, and inform policy.

II. Presence Exams of Certain Newly Registered Investment Advisers

Consistent with our mission and objectives, the NEP is launching an initiative to conduct focused, risk-based examinations of investment advisers to private funds that recently registered with the Commission (“Presence Exams”). The Presence Exams initiative will take place over the next two years and it has three primary phases: engagement; examination; and reporting. Each phase is described further below.

² The Commission, as a matter of policy, disclaims responsibility for any publication or statement by any of its employees. The views expressed herein are those of the staff and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Commission or the other staff members of the Commission.

A. Engagement Phase

The NEP is engaged in a nationwide outreach to inform newly registered firms about their obligations under the Advisers Act and related rules, the Presence Exams initiative, and OCIE's practice of engaging directly with firms' senior management. As part of our outreach initiatives, the NEP has published compliance outreach materials, staff letters, risk alerts, special studies, speeches, and other documents that are available on the Commission's website.³ The Commission's website also contains information and links to relevant laws and rules, staff guidance, enforcement cases, and staff issued no-action and interpretive letters (generally from 2001 to present).⁴ Some of these resources and their reference links are provided at the end of this letter.⁵

In addition, the Commission's staff engages in compliance outreach for investment advisers through initiatives such as our Compliance Outreach Program. This program is designed to provide senior officers, including Chief Compliance Officers, with a forum to discuss compliance issues, share experiences, engage in discussions with Commission staff, and learn about effective compliance practices. The program features both regional meetings at various locations across the country and national seminars in Washington D.C.

B. Examination Phase

During the examination phase of the Presence Exams initiative, NEP staff will review one or more of the following higher-risk areas of the business and operations of advisers selected for an examination:⁶

Marketing. Investment advisers may utilize marketing materials to solicit new investors or retain existing investors. NEP staff will review marketing materials to evaluate whether the investment adviser has made false or misleading statements about its business or performance record; made any untrue statement of a material fact; omitted material facts; made any statement that is ³ In particular, you are encouraged to review the staff's letter to newly registered investment advisers that was sent to your firm when it registered through IARD. For a more detailed overview of the NEP and the issues of focus for the examination staff, see recent speeches by OCIE's Director, Carlo di Florio, and former Deputy Director, Norm Champ.

⁶ The books and records of all registered investment advisers are subject to compliance examinations by Commission staff, including the records and reports of any private funds to which investment advisers registered under Advisers Act provide investment advice. If your firm is examined, you are required to provide examiners with access to all requested advisory records that are maintained by your firm (under certain conditions, documents may remain private under the attorney-client privilege).

otherwise misleading; or engaged in any manipulative, fraudulent, or deceptive activities. In addition, NEP staff will review how investment advisers solicit investors for the private funds they manage, including the use of placement agents.

Portfolio Management. An investment adviser has an obligation to act in the best interests of its advisory clients and to identify, mitigate, and disclose any material conflict of interest. NEP staff will review and evaluate investment advisers' portfolio decision-making practices, including the allocation of investment opportunities and whether advisers' practices are consistent with disclosures provided to investors.

Conflicts of Interest. The NEP staff will review the procedures and controls that advisers use to identify, mitigate, and manage certain conflicts of interest within their firms. Some areas of the conflicts of interest that NEP staff will review includes: allocation of investments, fees, and expenses; sources of revenue; payments made by private funds to advisers and related persons; employees' outside business activities and personal securities trading; and transactions by advisers with affiliated parties.

Safety of Client Assets. Registered investment advisers that have "custody" of client assets must take specific measures to protect client assets from loss or theft. NEP staff will review advisers' compliance with the relevant provisions of the Advisers Act and related rules that are designed to prevent the loss or theft of client assets. When obtained, NEP staff also will review independent audits of private funds for consistency with the Advisers Act custody rule.

Valuation. Investment advisers must have effective policies and procedures regarding the valuation of client holdings and assessment of fees based on those valuations. NEP staff will review advisers' valuation policies and procedures, including their methodology for fair valuing illiquid or difficult to value instruments. NEP staff also will review advisers' procedures for calculating management and performance fees, and allocation of expenses to private funds.

If your firm is selected for an examination, after the completion of the on-site portion of the examination, NEP staff may send you a letter indicating that the examination has concluded without findings or a letter that describes the deficiencies identified and asks your firm to undertake corrective action. If serious deficiencies are found, in addition to sending an examination summary letter, NEP staff may refer the problems to the Commission's Division of Enforcement, or to a self-regulatory organization, state regulatory agency, or other regulator for possible action.

C. Reporting Phase

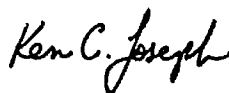

At the conclusion of the Examination Phase, the NEP intends to report its observations to the Commission and the public. These observations may include common practices identified in the higher-risk focus areas, industry trends, and significant issues. In sharing examiners' observations from Presence Exams, the NEP staff hopes to encourage firms to review compliance in these areas and to promote improvements in investment adviser compliance programs.
